DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

Restriction is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 and 372.

This application contains the following inventions or groups of inventions which are not so linked as to form a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1.

In accordance with 37 CFR 1.499, applicant is required, in reply to this action, to elect a single invention to which the claims must be restricted.

Group I, claim(s) 26-30, 34 and 37-41, drawn to a method for diagnosing cancer comprising detecting the presence of a cancer marker which comprises an oligosaccharide that comprises two or more linked sialic acid residues.

Group II, claim(s) 35-36, drawn to a method of identifying a candidate therapeutic agent.

The inventions listed as groups I-II do not relate to a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1 because, under PCT Rule 13.2, they lack the same or corresponding special technical features for the following reasons:

The technical feature linking groups I-II appears to be that they all relate to the special technical feature of a method for diagnosing cancer comprising detecting the presence of a cancer marker which comprises an oligosaccharide that comprises two or more linked sialic acid residues.

However, Yamashita et al (7/1987, Cancer Research, 47:3451-3459) teaches a method for diagnosing cancer comprising detecting the presence of the cancer marker CEA, which comprises an oligosaccharide that comprises two or more linked sialic acid residues (see Table 1, in particular).

Therefore, the technical feature linking the inventions of groups I-II does not constitute a special technical feature as defined by PCT Rule 13.2, as it does not define a contribution over the prior art.

Accordingly, groups I-II are not so linked by the same or a corresponding special technical feature as to form a single general inventive concept.

Species

This application contains claims directed to more than one species of the generic invention. These species are deemed to lack unity of invention because they are not so linked as to form a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1.

Claims 26-30, 34, and 37-41 are generic to a plurality of disclosed patentably distinct species of "cancer markers" comprising the following: Hex-HexNeuAc-NeuAc₃; NeuAc-(Hex-)-HexNAc; NeuAc-Hex-HexNac;.... Hex₂HexNac₂NeuAc₂(SO₃H), etc. The species listed above do not relate to a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1 because, under PCT Rule 13.2, the species lack the same or corresponding special technical features for the following reasons: The species represent separate and distinct products which are made by materially different methods, and are used in materially different methods which have different modes of operation, different functions and different effects. Applicant is required, in reply to this action, to elect a single species to which the claims shall be restricted if no generic claim is finally held to be allowable. The reply must also identify the claims readable on the elected species, including any claims subsequently added. An argument that a claim is allowable or that all claims are generic is considered non-responsive unless accompanied by an election.

Upon the allowance of a generic claim, applicant will be entitled to consideration of claims to additional species which are written in dependent form or otherwise include all the limitations of an allowed generic claim as provided by 37 CFR 1.141. If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which are readable upon the elected species. MPEP § 809.02(a).
